Social and Personal

A drapery of smilax, sweet peas, orchids and moss roses completely covered the walls and gallery of the ballroom at the Jefferson Hotel last evening for the marriage of Miss Lucille Virginia Stern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Stern, and Walter J. Gans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gans, which was celebrated in the presence of a brilliant assemblage of relatives and friends at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Edward N. Callahan performed the ceremony, and a stringed orchestra played the wedding music. The entire hall was transformed into a veritable bower of beautiful flowers, against a background of trailing vines and palms, and the handsome gowns worn by the women present added to the beauty of the scene. The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown was an imported affair of white satin, trimmed with a court train of broadest satin and finished with the real lace that had adorned her mother's bridal veil. The long tulle veil fell from a Vernon Castle cap of real lace, caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Edward Gans attended the bride as his best man. Mrs. Melville Garfield Steinhart, who was dame of honor, wore a handsome costume of even brocade and silver cloth, trimmed in Russian sable, and the train was held in place with a real pearl ornament. Two lovely girls were chosen by the bride as her maids. Misses Lucille Levy of Savannah, Ga., and Nina Gans, and their gowns were of palest pink charmeuse covered with silver lace and edged with skunk fur. The groomsmen included Laurence Stern, of Atlanta, Ga.; William Gans, of Baltimore; Ira Stern, Horace Gans, Julius Syde and Edgar Whitlock, of this city.

After spending a week at Palm Beach, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Gans will leave for an extended trip through Egypt, visiting places of interest en route. The wedding last evening was one of the handsomest events of the winter season, and some of the prominent guests from a distance in attendance were Mrs. Melville G. Steinhart, Misses Virginia and Alice Steinhart, Miss Paula Chase, Miss Helene F. Fischer, Sam Chase, John Jacobson, all of New York; Mrs. Lucille Levy and Mrs. S. Herman, of Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. S. W. Gans, Mrs. R. Gans and Mr. and Mrs. J. Gans, and Mrs. L. Picard, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. L. Metzger, Mr. and Mrs. Hamburger, Miss Mildred Othmer, Mrs. William Gans, William Gans, Mr. and Mrs. S. Solomon, of Baltimore; Laurence Stern, of Atlanta, Ga.; Arthur Herman, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. L. Straus, of Baltimore.

Miss Lloyd Engaged.
The Right Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd, formerly of New York, formerly of Virginia, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca, to Garvin Hadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farquhar Hadden, of East Seventy-sixth Street, New York, a graduate of Harvard, class 1910. The wedding is to take place on February 21.

The announcement of Miss Lloyd's engagement and approaching marriage is of the greatest interest to Richmond society, as she is a daughter of the city. She belongs to one of the best known families in the State, and a great many distinguished guests will go to New York to attend her wedding.

To Visit Here.
Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Wright, of Ardmore, Pa., the latter formerly Miss Louise Mason, will arrive here on Saturday from Charlotte, N. C., to be the guests of Mrs. Wright's brother, Dr. H. Wright, for several days. Dr. Wright has also visited relatives in Washington and Fauquier County and spent a short time with Mrs. Wright's uncle, Judge J. K. M. Mason, in Alexandria.

Sailed for England.
Thomas Atkinson, Jr., sailed yesterday morning for New York City on board the steamship Lusitania. He is a month's stay abroad. Mr. Atkinson will spend the time in England, where he expects to make a great deal.

Prominent Engagement.
Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Nicholas, 3501 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Katherine Nicholas, to John Hastings Landrum, of Aiken, S. C. Miss Nicholas is a granddaughter of the late Dr. Joseph Clapp.

The announcement is of much interest in Richmond, since the bride-to-be is a great granddaughter of the late John Van Lew, builder and owner of the famous Van Lew mansion, on Church Hill, and is a great niece of Miss Lizzie Van Lewis. Miss Nicholas is also a niece of John Clapp, a well-known clubman, formerly of Richmond, but now of Philadelphia.

Affairs of To-Day.
Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Curry will be at home informally to their friends this evening from 8 to 10 o'clock at their residence, 1155 Brook Road, in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. No invitations have been issued, and all friends of Mr. and Mrs. Curry are expected.

SOCIETY ATTENDS BIG RECEPTION

Governor and Governor-Elect Greet Members of the General Assembly.

BIG CROWD AT THE MANSION
Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. Ellyson in Receiving Party.

A brilliant throng of distinguished guests filled the beautiful old rooms of the historic Governor's Mansion last night for the reception tendered in gracious hospitality by Governor William Hodges Mann and Mrs. Mann.

The entire lower floor of the mansion was hung with a drapery of smilax and garlands of pink flowers, and outlined the windows and doorways everywhere.

In the Blue Room, where the receiving party stood to greet the guests, tall silver vases of American Beauty roses and palms were used, and the mantels were banked with ferns and palms. The long drawing room was cleared for the informal dancing that took place later in the evening, and a screen of palms and bay trees, and an orchestra that played throughout the evening.

The tall mantel in the drawing room was banked with Killarney roses and ferns, and the table was set with a huge basket of pink roses and sweet peas, and smaller baskets of the same flowers caught together with tulle and smilax.

In the receiving line were the Governor of Virginia and Mrs. Mann, Governor-Elect Henry C. Stuart and Mrs. Stuart, and Lieutenant-Governor Taylor Ellyson and Mrs. Ellyson. Mrs. Mann was handsomely gowned in an imported creation of broad tulle and made with a tulle of silver lace and a tucker of tulle embroidered in pearls.

The long train was caught with pearl ornaments, and she wore a corset of purple and silver. Mrs. Stuart wore a French gown of silver and rose-colored brocade made with a fringe. The bodice was fashioned in a tulle embroidered in iridescent beads.

Miss Ellyson wore a band of rhinestones, and she wore a band of rhinestones, and she wore a band of rhinestones, and she wore a band of rhinestones.

downed while trying to swim to safety.

Kagoshima, last week a prosperous town of 60,000, is in ruins.

The eruption of Sakura-Jima is gradually subsiding.

The entire island of Kishiu, an area of 3,000 square miles, is covered with volcanic ashes in varying depths.

Prominent scientists declare that the eruption had served as a vent for an acute subterranean activity, and probably had saved the country from even more disastrous earthquakes.

At Kumamoto, north of Kagoshima, more than 1,000 refugees have arrived. The authorities face the difficulty of housing and feeding the sufferers.

Tokyo, 500 miles from the volcanic district, has been swept by the past twenty-four hours by miniature cyclones, creating the belief that the capital was feeling some of the effects of the eruption. The wind died down to-night.

Animals and birds south of Satsuma were suffering from abnormal uneasiness for several days prior to the disturbance at Kagoshima.

Any estimate of the dead must include a large number of refugees.
